PERHAPS the pendulum is swinging away from after-the-war industry. New York is trying to clean up shameful plays. Boston police, rugged moralists that lack sympathy for industry calling their genius, have stopped the sale of nine books.

Particularly the pendulum can swing in one direction all the time. Cromwell and his Puritans followed Charles the First. We may get rid of writings and performances that would disgrace a monkey house.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, this morning, will interest you. Navy Department's Japan has bought from France 152 fighting air planes, including big bombing planes, of which one could wipe out any city in America. Japan pays France $7,000,000 for the flying planes, and Japan is building another big flying battle fleet at home.

Japan realizes that there may come a day when she will be worse than any originating underground.

We talk disarmament and lay down to other nations, while they accumulate equipment that might have our fine property into the mire—of they did not love us as much.

WOULD IT NOT be a good idea to add action to our "no-guns talk"? Our Army and Navy Departments think flying machines important, and as will judge says, "they will keep on building flying machines" until they have something dropped on them, from one of them.

What do the Army and Navy think is Japan's purpose in buying and making so many fighting machines? Secretary of War, Mr. Baker, to have said, "There is no danger from Japan's planes," the should not judge the flying of other nations by our own.

FROM BOLIVIA comes gumbine news that is really new. Senators Simon Chene and two Jauregui brothers, former Jose Manuel Pando, former Bolivian President, are the only ones who said that one life for one murder was sufficient.

The four men indicted must not let, and the lesser will be executed, the other three going to prison for ten years. Leonardo, who liked to study face and make-up, could make an interesting picture of those men gambling for death.

MUSCOLINI'S CABINET, established an aerial police force, to regulate flying up where it is done, and prevent criminals that escape in flying machines. That also is a new piece of news. It begins what, in years to come, will be the world's really important police force. Criminals know—what this government does not yet know—that flying is a practical reality.

MAYOR WALKER of New York sets a good example by not taxing on poor people's dwellings. This should apply to any moderate price house in which a father and mother bring up children. When they are poor, actually, the city and state and nation should help instead of taxing them, since they are providing human welfare machinery for the next generation.

MORROW THIRTEENTH many things if the Chinese harm Russian subjects captured on board a Russian ship and accused of piracy. A Russian-Chinese war would be long and no repetition of the Russian-Japanese war, the fear and the grand dance being replaced by canine, thinking Russians, Russia, not backward like this nation, would soon have hundreds of fighting planes more Chinese cities and they would not fall down.

BUT HOW WOULD YOU CONQUER, all at once, China's population? It is a question that is being done it by acting against the

C. L. TALBOT DEAD IN HIS SOUTH SHORE HOME
C. L. TALBOT, 42, controller of Lockwood, Greene Co., Inc., a Boston textile engineering firm, was found dead yesterday at his summer home as Westinghouse, in Weymouth. Gas jets were open in the room.

Boston and Belmont Man Was Controller of the Lockwood, Greene Company
VANISHED LAST THURSDAY
Thought to Have Gone to New York; Trail Led From There to Weymouth

Charles L. Talbot, 42, controller of Lockwood, Greene Co., Inc., a Boston textile engineering firm, was found dead yesterday at his summer home as Westinghouse, in Weymouth. Gas jets were open in the room.

Discovery of the textile engineer's body was made only a few hours after his family had reported to the Belmont police that he was missing from home.

The family explained that he had left for New York on Thursday, and it was his custom, that led to the request that a search be made for other relatives by our own.

Members of the family told police that for the last few months Mr. Talbot had been laboring under a great mental strain as a result of overwork and excessive business cares.

SOUGHT IN NEW YORK
Before notifying the Belmont authorities, members of the family communicated with the New York office of Lockwood, Greene Co., and were informed that Talbot had not been seen in that city. It was thought then that he might have gone to his summer home to rest and the Weymouth authorities were asked to make a search at Westinghouse.

Talbot was found in a closed room with a number of gas jets open. It was evident that he had been dead at least two days. Medical Examiner Cornelius J. Sullivan, of South Braintree, will perform an autopsy this morning at North Weymouth.

LEADER OF PROFESSION
Mr. Talbot was one of the outstanding authorities in his profession. He was a well known figure in Boston's financial circles and was a member of many industrial and business organizations.

Mr. Talbot maintained a beautiful home at No. 48 Spitta road, Belmont. His summer estate is one of the South Shore show places.

He is survived by his widow, Lily, and two daughters, Kathleen, 14, and Margaret, 19, who attend private schools in Boston.

REVERE POLICE CHIEF OUSTED

Truth Is Told

JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR., editor of Universal Service, who yesterday addressed the University Club in Boston on conditions in the Philippines, giving the result of his four months' first-hand observation.

WOOD IS HOPE OF PHILIPPINES, SAYS WILLIAMS
Governor-General Fall In-creasing Good Will of Natives to U. S.

PEOPLE ARE CONTENTED
Editor at University Club Tells of Menace of Legislative Oligarchy

"Leave Governor Wood on the job at Manila; give him support of the government at Washington, and you will witness a great change on the part of influential Filipinos toward American sovereignty there."

This was a declaration yesterday by James T. Williams, Jr., editor of Universal Service, in addressing members of the University Club on the Philippines.

In his talk, he asserted that the small oligarchy in control of the Philippine Legislature, with its propaganda, has left the general contentment of the Philippine natives.

Mr. Williams, who studied the situation for four months on the islands, pointed the administration of Governor-General Leonard Wood highly.

FRIENDLY TO AMERICANS.
The delegation of legislative powers to a small group of political leaders, the legislative encroachments upon executive functions, the commingling of executive and legislative powers are being stopped.

"For today the government set up by the organic law is under the leadership of Governor Wood is steadily putting an end, partly by administrative rulings and partly by judicial decisions, to the various illegal restrictions which were devised to reduce the American position to the position of a mere figurehead."

Mr. Williams was introduced by Mr. Edward C. Edwards, who took for his subject "The Truth About the Philippines Today."

"As to the Philippines today," Mr. Williams said, "with open eyes, open ears and open mind and what will you find?"

Here is what I found: On all sides a happy and contented people living and striving under conditions that are steadily improving. Forward-looking Americans include it friendly; it is marked by great energy and they delight in showing hospitality to Americans.

DYER'S FOUND GUILTY AFTER HEARING
Captain William E. Tappan Named as Acting Head of Mayor Walsh

CHARGED WITH NEGLIGENCE
Dismissed Official Expected to Begin Fight for Reinstatement

Chief John J. Dyer, for the last twelve years head of the Revere police department, was yesterday dismissed from office by Mayor John J. Walsh.

Captain William E. Tappan was appointed acting chief.

The removal of the veteran police official followed the disclosures made at his hearing, which was held during the week.

In stating Chief Dyer, the Revere executive made it plain that he was not going to lose friendship or politics to interfere with his efforts to remedy the lax control conditions of the city. His letter to the police head, while brief, outlined the reasons for his action. The letter follows:

Dear Sir:—I hereby inform you after the hearing given you, I find you guilty on all evidence presented on the following charges against you:

Neglect of duty: Conduct unbecoming an officer; Conflict detrimental to the discipline of the police department. "GOOD OF SERVICE."

Neglect of duty: For the above reasons you are hereby discharged from the police department of the city of Revere, and you are hereby a member of the department will cease at roll call at 6 p.m., March 12.

You will turn over to Acting Chief William E. Tappan all property of the city of Revere in your possession.

I find on February 8, last that Mayor Walsh ordered the suspension of Chief Dyer who for the last few years has been the storm center of many bitter controversies in the police department. At the time of his suspension, no reasons were offered by Mayor Walsh for his action.

MARKS CHARGES
Only when Chief Dyer presented himself for trial last Tuesday did Mayor Walsh make public the charges against the Revere police head. He charged that the police department, through his head, had been in the enforcement of the laws, particularly those concerning liquor.

Major Walsh charged that police were in the habit of coming out of their homes, and that many of them had even been intoxicated while on duty in uniform. He also brought out the fact that Chief Dyer himself admitted drinking on certain occasions.

All of these charges were aired at a public hearing at which Mayor Walsh acted as prosecutor, while Chief Dyer was defended by Attorney Edward E. Voke.

Great Foch-Joffre Series on World War Begins Next Sunday

MARSHAL JOFFRE, commander-in-chief in the first battle of the Marne, will begin in next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser a series of articles by prominent commanders in the World War.

These articles, prepared exclusively for the March of Events section of the Hearst papers, will be the first narratives ever published by MARSHAL JOFFRE, THE CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY, and GENERAL LUDENDORFF, the supreme German strategist, telling of the greatest battles in history in which they were supreme leaders.

The first two narratives, by Marshals Foch and Joffre, will be in six parts, to be published six consecutive Sundays, and will be illustrated by maps prepared by the General Staff of the French Army.

Marshal Joffre's first article, Sunday, March 20, will vividly describe the first phase of the great Marne battle, in the fifth week of the World War, when the German Army got within 20 miles of Paris.

The second article, Sunday, March 27, will describe and portray clearly by maps, the mistakes of German commanders, and the successful strategy by Joffre that saved Paris, and caused the removal of the supreme German commander, Von Moltke.

Marshal Joffre's third article, April 3, will describe the "race to the sea," and the ensuing deadlock in trenches of two armies of a million and a half men.

Marshal Foch's three articles, April 10, 17 and 24, will describe, first, brilliantly and clearly, with maps prepared by his own staff, the critical situation before the supreme command of all the allied armies was confided to him. Second, the scene when he received the command, who was present, what was said, what offer General Pershing made to him, and what his own thoughts and first decisions were. Third, what happened in the next eight months, when the Americans arrived in force.

The Crown Prince of Germany, who commanded the Fifth German Army of 300,000 men, will next tell in three historic articles what he himself saw, heard and did in these great battles and Verdun. He was with the German Field Marshal Von Moltke, commander-in-chief at the Marne, and witnessed his physical agony and collapse when the battle was lost by Germany.

No field marshal of France has ever published a book of war memoirs because French law forbids a marshal of France to write for publication. These great historic papers, prepared especially for the Hearst papers, are in the form of narrative by the marshals to the chief liaison officer between the French and American air forces in France.

They are illustrated by entirely new maps, wholly different in kind from any previously published, prepared by the General Staff of the French Army especially for these articles. The narrative, after being translated and put in type, are now being revised by the chiefs of staff of the marshals of France.

This notable series signals the tenth anniversary of the March of Events section of the Hearst papers.

FORMAL NOTES GO TO LONDON AND TOKYO FOR NAVAL MEETING

Hints at Using World Opinion to "Persuade" Paris and Rome to Attend

MAY SWING 'BIG STICK'
Would Put Blame on Recalcitrant Powers if Disarmament Plan Collapses

By Universal Service
Washington, March 12.—Formal invitations to Great Britain and Japan to participate with the United States in a three-power naval disarmament party at Geneva went forth today with this significant statement:

"The American government regrets that France and Italy should have formally refused the President's invitation and shares the opinion of His Majesty's government that their presence would be most welcome at such a conference."

This was taken to signify that both France and Italy will be invited again to participate in the proposed conference by the government.

It was believed here that the "re-nations may be asked to send 'official observers' in the event of such decline to participate as active members in the meeting. It is felt that this course may be pursued as given in the note to Great Britain and Japan, which said further:

HINT TO OTHER POWERS.
This government strongly hopes, therefore, that they (France and Italy) may decide to be represented at least in some informal manner at the conversations contemplated."

The note gave added emphasis to the fact that numbers of the "Big Three"—United States, Great Britain and Japan—are determined to have France and Italy represented at the proposed conference.

The note also said that opinion throughout the world will be used, and it was understood, to induce France and Italy to take their place at the disarmament conference table.

BLAME FOR FAILURE.
Unless they agree to participate, it was pointed out that the conference would be foredoomed to failure. In such event the blame will be placed upon those nations who declined to attend.

The formal invitations were sent Great Britain and Japan according to previous plan, accepted by both nations, made informally and orally. Both nations are now expected to send formal acceptance.

The invitation suggested that the conference convene at Geneva on June 1, or as soon thereafter as possible.

It is understood that the State Department will continue working up an agenda until replies are received from the nations.

Italy Will Join if France Accepts
By Universal Service
Rome, Italy, March 12.—The Italian government has decided to join the naval disarmament conference, but as an active participant, not as an observer, as was previously announced. It is reported here today.

France Would Decline to Send an Observer
Paris, March 12 (U.S.)—France has received an invitation to send an official observer to the Treaty Conference on Naval Disarmament, the foreign office announced today. It was stated that France would not send an observer even though invited to do so.

HOOPER BARGES ON ST. LAWRENCE
Would Have U. S. and Canada Guarantee Bonds for $500,000,000 Project
20 STATES FAVOR PLAN
Mid-West Would Be 600 Miles Nearer Europe; Road to Prosperity

New Haven, Conn., March 12.—Plans for the St. Lawrence waterway, to be mutually constructed and financed by the United States and Canada, were outlined here tonight by Secretary Herbert Hoover at the New Haven Chamber of Commerce. Speaking of potential benefits of the plan, he advanced the following points:

- It is larger in scope than the Panama Canal.
- It would provide a barrier to war transportation.
- It would yield a wealth of hydro-electric power.
- It is nearer to the prosperity of the mid-west.
- It would reduce the mid-west 600 miles nearer Europe than by present routes.
- It would cost $500,000,000.

TWENTY STATES FOR PLAN.
Secretary Hoover said that twenty states of the Union have petitioned the President for the construction of the waterway, and that less than 1 percent of the press of the country has opposed it.

He said that the principal difficulty consisted in the financial arrangements between the United States and Canada and the necessity of obtaining the water privileges. This he thought could be overcome, he said, by the creation of a St. Lawrence corporation of authority to secure personnel would be chosen by the two governments which would mutually guarantee the bonds.

Hoover pointed out that the St. Lawrence River is the only international boundary between the two countries for some miles, but that it passes into the hands of Canadian jurisdiction.

He said:

"I have been suggested that if we jointly undertake to construct this great waterway, it would be a joint American control over Canadian territory. I may say at once that this suggestion is as repugnant to the American people as it is to the Canadian. No such suggestion has come from the American side. The Canadian people have the whole truth of the matter. St. Lawrence has never been a barrier to an invasion.

MUTUAL GOOD WILL.
"I believe there are some who are misled into the ample foundations of bad, mutual distrust and will that will have always been the basis of the friendship of the two nations. With every year it strengthens our understanding."

WORLD WAR SERIES

OVERSIGHT AS POLICE HEAD

The American entry into the World War, April 7, 1917, Marshal Joffre informed the Editor of the March of Events section of the Hearst papers, with who discussing with him in Paris the possibility of these articles, that he had written a confidential report of several thousand words for the French War Office, but had requested that it should not be published until at least 25 years after his death for the reason that it dealt with certain personalities in the French Army, certain mistakes or failures of individual officers of long and honorable record. No good purpose could be served by exposing these officers to humiliation now. But there were certain lessons taught by the great battle and the physical and mental training of officers for battle that were important to the nation. That was why he wrote the confidential report.

The grand old soldier mentioned some details, without mentioning names, that must not be repeated here. What he said showed why this marshal of France is affectionately called "Papa" Joffre and is beloved by every man in the army.

MAY PARALYSIS VICTIM GAINING

Newport, R. I., March 12.—A case of "locking paralysis," the disease which caused the death in Chicago of twenty-two-year-old Alfred Frick, is being successfully treated at the U. S. Naval Hospital here, it was learned today.

George Giesel, forty, former chief clerk on U. S. S. Wright in the Portuguese Navy, was today the victim being treated here. Eight months ago he was stricken with the disease, and he has been unable to move hand or foot, was carried here on a stretcher.

Artificial Breathing Saved Life of Baby

Chicago, March 12 (A.P.)—While Alfred Frick was kept alive 108 hours by artificial respiration in a hospital here, today his baby, who was born a month ago, was kept alive by artificial respiration. The baby was born a month ago, was kept alive by artificial respiration. The baby was born a month ago, was kept alive by artificial respiration.

Science Seeking Paralysis Cure

By Universal Service.

Chicago, March 12.—All doubts that Alfred Frick, who succumbed to locking paralysis after an heroic battle with death here this week, a 28-month-old baby made a victim of the disease.

Science is seeking a cure for the disease, for which they are seeking a cure.

'Borah Is Called a Republican by Accident,' Says Hapgood

SENATOR FROM IDAHO LOVER OF SOLITUDE

"His Thought Nourished and Strengthened by Good Books," Writer Finds

DISBELIEVES IN FORCE

"His Is the Most Impressive Mind on the Republican Side of the Senate"

By NORMAN HAPGOOD

Washington, March 12.—If a man who plays alone, being too part of any group, wins such power as William B. Borah, there must be a reason.

There is no doubt that the greatest mind in the Senate is that of the Senator from Idaho. He spends his life in thought and his thought is in a field which is not touched and strengthened by good books, but by the study of the human mind. He is a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind.

Senator Borah is a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind. He is a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind. He is a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind.

Republican by Accident

Woodrow Wilson said once that a scholar was likely to be a radical. Borah is not a radical in the sense of believing in new remedies for old troubles. But he is a radical in the sense that he believes in the use of force. He is a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind.

Forebode and Frank

He was clear, forebode and frank, as usual, with a definite conviction of what Mexico is trying to do. He was a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind. He is a man who is not a member of any group, but a man who is a member of the human mind.

"It has to be admitted, does it?"

BOYS' CLUB TO OPEN DRIVE FOR $850,000 FUND

Money Will Be Used to Enlarge Club Activities and Give Youths Greater Help

"Letting off steam" through the wrong outlet is what gets normal boys into trouble, say leaders of the Boys' Club of Boston, which is about to conduct a campaign for $850,000 for an endowment fund. The fund will be used to enlarge club activities and provide legitimate opportunities to "blow off steam."

PURPOSE IS TO PREVENT.

The purpose of the club, he pointed out, is not primarily to cure, but to prevent delinquency. "Last year," said Mr. Baker, "in Boston 1929 boys under 18 years of age were arrested, 700 of them being brought into juvenile court, and 412 youths between 18 and 20 also went into trouble. In congested districts it was found that one boy in every 24 was arrested last year."

THIRTEEN BY JUDGE CABOT.

A tribute to the club and its service to the community was paid by Judge Frederick P. Cabot of the Juvenile Court.

See Poison in Force

Hostile critics leave out some things. Usually they leave out the "poison" in the "force" in force. "I have read history for a good while," he said to me, "it means to me that whatever is accomplished by force is poison. It is the act of being accomplished. I am going the whole distance in that belief, even if I go alone. Whatever chance there may be of his nomination in 1932 must of course be based or increased by the issue as they appear at that time. At the moment it seems likely that liquor will be a line of present passionate division. Senator Borah's championship of it, taken as a most uncompromising attitude, making himself the leader of those who, the Constitution being obviously impossible of amendment, are inclined at local attempts to mitigate it."

COMET TO BE EASILY VISIBLE IN JUNE

The Pans-Warlock comet, visible covered on the morning of March 2, will be only three and a half million miles away from the earth on June 25, according to a further communication received at the Harvard College Observatory, from Professor Van Hisebrook of the Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wisconsin. The comet was found on February 27 at a faint luminosity, and later detailed observations were made on the three previous nights. The observation given June 21 for the time of perihelion transit of the comet, and indicates that on five days later, when it will be at the minimum distance from the earth, it should be visible to the naked eye.

State House War Over Gasoline Tax and Auto Insurance

EXCISE BILL TO TAX 'RODGEES,' WARNS SOLON

Sunday Sports and Liquor Referendum up for Action This Week

HOSTILE AMENDMENTS DUE
Committees Still Wrestling
(With 'L' and Boston Tax Limit Measures

By JOHN V. REGER.
Automobile owners, among the members of the General Court are preparing for a battle over the two measures reported last week to the House. The gasoline tax bill favorably, and the uniform premium for compulsory insurance and abolition of territorial divisions, unfavorably.

Rep. Alfred N. LaHogue of Quincy, father of the insurance bill, declares he will move to substitute his original measure for the adverse report.

"The only people who are profiting by the law are the insurance men," Rep. LaHogue told the Sunday Advertiser. "As the insurance companies have been able to get the rates and have fixed by the insurance experts and that they were adopted as unwise to him."

According to reports I have gathered, the profit to the insurance companies will be less than $100,000 the first year. The rates will be cut down to the point of making it a fair business, and still leave a large margin of profit, due to the territorial divisions, that is all pure bank."

Legislation are discussing whether the three-contingent gasoline tax will be passed, and with Rhode Island charging a tax of only one cent, and New Hampshire of two cents, they say, motorists will not want to buy their supplies across the border.

Referring to substitution of the bill authorizing an excise tax on automobiles, Rep. Joseph Martin of Barnstable, leading the proposition, explained the bill was intended to catch those who do not put their cars on the road until after April 1 and thus dodge taxation for the year. He declared 100 full motor cars cost the latest motorist one cent more than he is now paying.

Rep. Carroll L. Mott of Boston, chairman of the House Committee on Taxation, expressed the view of the opposition when he said: "The car owner is already paying a fee or a tax every time he turns around. The trouble to be remedied. The law is not an over-charge and simple."

TWO BILLS GO OVER.
Two important bills—Sunday sports and liquor referendum—will, although placed on the House calendar for two days, not come over this week. The Sunday sports measure was not reported on Friday afternoon, so the time was not fixed definitely for the long delay. The referendum bill was reported on the committee by a single vote.

Hostile amendments to the Sunday sports bill are to be offered tomorrow. One proposes to fix the maximum admission price at 25 cents, the other to add that 20 per cent of the gross receipts be paid over to the state for a charity fund. These, it is said, will be printed on the House calendar. The vote on these amendments will indicate the sentiment of the House members on the main bill.

GIVEN EXTENSION OF TIME.
Committees which were unable to finish their executive conferences within the time limit set by the Legislature have been granted a week's extension. Most important among these is the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways, sitting jointly, which is still wrestling with the Boston Elevated problem.

The members are divided upon the issue of the division to be recommended and the period of extension of public opinion.

Tomorrow the Committee on Municipal Finance will resume its deliberation on the Boston tax limit bill, on which there is also a serious deadlock. Mayor Nichols asks for a $12.50 limit on real estate interests, a demand a 12 per cent, and the Finance Committee $11.40.

HERE'S A REPORT THAT WILL STAY

Members of the Senate Committee on Bills in the Third Reading made one report, unfavorable to Thursday they are sure will not be over-ruled by the Governor. The committee has recommended the revival with additional powers of the old Commission on Foreign and Domestic Commerce to direct the publicity.

Under the bill, the Governor would appoint an unpaid commission of four, the commissioner of labor to be a member, ex-officio.

World to Learn What a Great State This Is

THE advantages, opportunities and resources of Massachusetts will be blazoned to the world if the report of the Committee on State Administration becomes a law. The committee has recommended the revival with additional powers of the old Commission on Foreign and Domestic Commerce to direct the publicity.

Under the bill, the Governor would appoint an unpaid commission of four, the commissioner of labor to be a member, ex-officio.

DARROW DEBATES HERE WEDNESDAY

Boston will be the scene Wednesday night of an intellectual clash worthy of its traditions. Two outstanding minds of the time will debate in Symphony Hall on nothing less than the ancient question of the origin and nature of man. "Is Man a Machine?" is the topic. The conflict is between the agnostic and the man of faith.

Charles Darrow, famous criminal lawyer, will uphold the affirmative side. Darrow defends young Eugene in the Tennessee "monkey trial." Eugene is Gray, president of Bates College, Lewiston, Me., will take the negative.
